SPEAKER, WRITER AND RECORDING ARTIST PAIGE ARMSTRONG TO MARRY MUSIC PRODUCER CHRIS OMARTIAN

(Nashville, TN) Chris Omartian, multi-platinum music producer and son of multiple Grammy Award winning music producer Michael Omartian and bestselling author Stormie Omartian, popped the question to speaker, writer and recording artist Paige Armstrong on Saturday, March 12. Paige is best known for her work with popular Christian group iShine, where she was the speaker for their tour and released her debut album, "Wake Up", in 2009. Chris was one of the producers on the project, which is how the couple originally met. Paige is now starting a ministry of her own and writing a book.

"When Chris and I first met, neither of us could have imagined that God had something like marriage in store for us!" Paige laughs. "It has been quite an unexpected journey for us both, but it's been unmistakable how the Lord has brought us together. I feel so blessed that God has entrusted me with such a tremendous, Godly and special man," says a clearly-in-love Paige. "I have never been so happy, excited and thankful in my life."

"Paige and I share a closeness in our friendship that has become the single greatest blessing in my life," shares Chris. "She is confident in her identity in Christ and has such a deep heart of compassion for others. She is truly beautiful in every sense of the word. Every man who prays for a wife, prays he'll find one with these same qualities. I thank the Lord every morning for bringing Paige and I together and drawing us closer day by day."

After dating a little over a year, Chris popped the question at a romantic picnic in Cheekwood Park in southwest Nashville. The ring was hidden in a custom-designed box of Godiva chocolate.

"I opened the box carefully and caught a glittering glimpse of the ring, only to shut it immediately and throw my arms around him screaming something like 'I can't believe this' about a hundred and twenty times," Paige describes. "It was the most amazing moment of our lives."

This has been an exciting time for Paige who just signed a book deal with Harvest House (acquiring editor, Terry Glaspey) for her book which will release at an unconfirmed date next year. As a cancer survivor, her mission is to see young people wake up to their God-given purpose and not waste their life.

The two shall become one on Friday, November 11, 2011.
